

I Like Math!

This book is part of the Tulliniliara Reading Series, developed by the Department of Family Services in Nunavut. The Tulliniliara Reading Series is a unique, Nunavut-developed literacy initiative that infuses awareness of skills, interests, and careers into a culturally appropriate reading program.

The Tulliniliara Reading Series was developed to support the reading level guidelines outlined in Uqalimaariuqsaniq, the Department of Education's guided reading program. Uqalimaariuqsaniq is a sequential and progressive Inuktitut reading program that supports students in their development from emergent to fluent readers.

The Tulliniliara Reading Series will inform readers about jobs available in their community. It will also provide opportunities for readers to consider their own interests and skills when thinking about future work. Awareness of career possibilities at a young age will better prepare children to understand the opportunities that are open to them and the importance of staying in school.

These books represent the Department of Family Services' investment in the early development of our future workforce.

I Like Math!

Written by Laura Edlund

Illustrated by Amanda Sandland

Daisy enjoys math.
She likes practising math
every day.

She counts with numbers, blocks, and even puppies at her grandparents' house.

Daisy does math every day at school. She also practises at home.

She likes solving puzzles with numbers. Daisy says to her brother, “Would you help me count these?”

Daisy and her friends use math to make bracelets with lots of different colours.

She sorts and groups shapes at home, at school, and in the community.

Daisy learns about measuring doors and weights at her dad's work.

Daisy says, “I like math
and I want to learn even more!
What about you?”
